THE TIDELINE AQUATICS
CHRISTMAS AQUARIUM
GIVE-A-WAY FOR 2009!!

THE CURRENT USA CARDIFF
AQUARIUM PACKAGE

The filtration is incorporated in the back of the Cardiff Aquarium. (1) is the auto top-off, (2) is the main circulation pump that recirculates the water over 10 times per hour, (3) is the mechanical filter material, (4) is the activated carbon, (5) is the surface skimmer prefilter pad, (6) is the removable skimmer cup, (7) is the protein skimmer housing, (8) is the micro-bubble trap for the skimmer and (9) is the protein skimmer water pump.

The package includes the compact fluorescent decorative pendant light and cabinet stand! Every time you enter the store you will be able to sign up for our give-a-way aquarium package (no purchase necessary!). We will draw the winner on Christmas Eve just before closing. One entry per family per visit please. You must be 18 yrs old or older to sign up. Remember that every time you visit the store you can sign up for a chance to win!! Good Luck Folks!!!! (and you too Tom B. lol).....

PART TIME CASHIERS POSITION NOW AVAILABLE – ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS BEGINNING THURSDAY, DEC 10.

ANDREW IS HEADED BACK TO COLLEGE!! GOOD LUCK TO YOU BUD!

After two years with Tideline Aquatics, Andrew will be leaving us near the end of December. In January he will be moving to Clemson where he will once again be attending college. Andrew is exactly the kind of person we want working at Tideline Aquatics – friendly, honest, smart, dependable and a team player.

Well this means we will need to fill his position and fast! The hours are every afternoon until closing each evening, and every Sunday. If you know someone or feel you are “the one” please come in and fill out an application. Mean people and crackheads need not apply!!

CHECK THAT AQUARIUM HEATER NOW!!

Like a defective air conditioner in your home, a defective heater may not be obvious until the temperature shifts. Take the time now to monitor your aquarium temperature. Take a reading from the thermometer (yes you should have a simple aquarium thermometer) first thing in the morning, again at mid-day and then just before you head to bed. Do this on a night when the weather is cooler. If you see that the aquarium temperature is falling yet the heater is set properly, you need to replace the heater. Don't get caught with chilled fish – replace it!

INTERESTING NEW FISH AT TIDELINE...

Moosehead Loach (Somileptes gongata)

This is an extremely rarely imported species from India and Bangladesh. The photo here just does not do this fish justice! This burrowing loach requires a soft sand or fine gravel substrate covering the bottom of the aquarium. This loach will dive in and out of the sand when spooked. It spends most of its day sifting the substrate through its gills collecting food items. This fish is NOT a flake food lover instead requiring frozen foods like bloodworms, brine shrimp and small mysis shrimp. To maintain this wonderful import, you must provide it with an aquarium LOW in organics, well-oxygenated without competitive other species. This is considered a delicate species to keep and should be acclimated like a marine fish using drip acclimation.

Coral Red Pencilfish (Nannostomus mortenthaleri)

This little 1” gem is the fantastic Coral Red Pencilfish. This is the perfect jewel for the planted aquarium or an aquarium that is well maintained with only peaceful species. The males are intense red while the females are a little less showy (but still beautiful). We recommend keeping this fish either singly or in trios to prevent too much chasing of one another. We have these completely acclimated and they are eating flake foods, frozen foods and live blackworms. These are only available here and there throughout the year but this is a surprisingly beefy shipment with full-bodied males and females in full color.

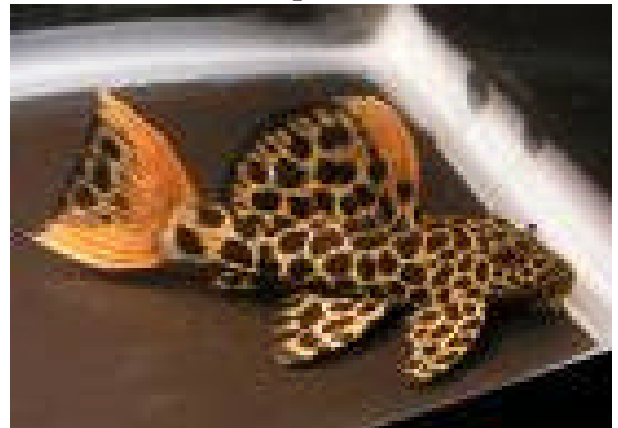

Dwarf Peacock Gudgeon Goby (Tateurdina ocellicauda)

We are now receiving a steady supply of this fabulous little goby now that it is being tank bred in Florida. This freshwater fish is nothing but stunning to look at with its rainbow of color and peaceful disposition. These tank bred gobies are eating all types of dry and frozen foods and require no additions of salt to the water. This is another excellent candidate for the planted aquarium as they appreciate having plenty of plants, rock and driftwood to dart about. This is a hardy fish when kept in a well-established aquarium that is maintained properly.

Redtail Sternella Plecostomus (Pseudacanthicus leopardus) L114

I remember many years ago (20+) receiving a shipment of odd-ball fish from South America. The shipper had told me that he’d collected some weird spiny plecocs and he was sending us one in this particular shipment. Well I reached into the dark black water of this huge bag and “BAM” my hand was sliced up from the spines of the creature inside!! But I did not even care when I finally was able to work this stunning creature from the sack. Before my eye was the most incredible plecostomus I’d ever seen at that time. It was a true fish geek moment let me tell you! Well now days this fish is shipped at about 2”-3” length instead of 10” and is a little easier to handle. The leopardus plecostomus is one of the hardier of the unusual plecocs. This fish grows slowly but grows big (12”). They love to chew on driftwood and they will eat up live plants but this is a fine specimen for an aquarium with medium to larger fish that will not eat this pleco! This is the first time we have seen this fish offered in almost a year. We have only (3) in stock.

Now there are so many exotic plecostomus being imported but years ago a find like this was just about as magical as a Harry Potter flick!

The Crosshatch Triggerfish (Xanthichthys mento)

We currently have a male and female pair of this absolutely “fantasticly” wonderful triggerfish imported from the Hawaiian Islands. These fish are hardy, brightly colored and quite peaceful considering these are triggerfish. Oh, and they are expensive as all heck (and worth every penny). This is the fish for the collector that wants only the best! We have these fish eating all types of frozen meaty fish foods supplemented with dried marine algae. This triggerfish grows large (up to 10”) so they will eventually require a large aquarium to sustain them.

HAPPY 22ND BIRTHDAY TO CHEYENE BOYEEE!

Sunday Cheyene will reach the old age of 22! Man I remember those days!!! Everyone wish him well for his big birthday!
