MERRY CHRISTMAS!!!

MARINELAND STEALTH PRO HEATER ISSUES...

We have now had numerous returns on the newly designed Stealth Pro Heaters – models 150 watts through 300 watts in particular. Some of these new heaters have shown cracks in the housing (as pictured above) while others have exploded inside the aquarium. For this reason, if you own a Stealth Pro Heater, we'd like you to check it today! Unplug the unit and allow it to cool in the aquarium for about 10 minutes. Remove it from the water and take a close inspection of the housing from top to bottom. If you see ANY signs of damage, flaws, swelling, etc, return your heater to us as soon as possible. We are replacing the defective heaters with the Visi-Therm model until the problem is resolved. Any cost difference between the two models will be credited to you. If your heater appears fine but you are uncomfortable with continuing to use the heater, please just call the store and we will order you a visa-therm heater to replace it with on our next order. We only stock a certain number of each model so we may not have enough to replace your non-defective heater right away. We want to take care of customers with bad heaters right away. So please, just call the store and let us put you on our special order list for a replacement model. Do take the time today to inspect your Stealth Pro Heater, regardless of the wattage. We apologize for the inconvenience but we want to keep your fish safe and your aquarium warm at the same time. Thank you for your patience and understanding....

A NEW FOOD FOR PUFFERS, TRIGGERS AND OTHER HUNGRY SPECIES....

We now have in stock the new foods by H2O: Scallops on the Half Shell, Mussels on the Half Shell and Clams on the Half Shell. Our fish are going crazy for this stuff!! Each food is nutritionally enhanced with phytoplankton. This food is attacked by angels, triggers, puffers, butterflyfish and even herbivores like rabbitfish and tangs! What's even better is that fish with teeth that tend to overgrow in captivity (pufferfish, triggerfish) grind down their teeth naturally as they would do in the wild while eating this food. The biting of the shell to expose the food works perfectly for helping to prevent overgrown teeth. Plus the fish just eat the heck out of this stuff. It is located in our freezer or you can ask for a sample from a staff member (one per customer please). We will give you a sample to take home and try. You'll be back to buy some when you see how crazy the fish go for this completely natural food source.

RED CRYSTAL SHRIMP NOW IN STOCK!

Currently we have a dozen of these beautiful freshwater Red and White Crystal Shrimp in stock. These are a miniature shrimp that spends all of its time scavenging on uneaten bits of food and munching algae from the aquarium plants and components. This shrimp will breed successfully within the confines of the aquarium if conditions are optimal. This means regular partial water changes, proper freshwater shrimp diet (we have foods designed just for maintaining proper health of freshwater shrimp species), a natural environment (planted aquarium is best) and a predator-free habitat (no shrimp eaters lol). The water temperature should be maintained at 74-82 degrees. These shrimp are located in our top planted aquarium in the store. Check them out during your next visit!

USE PROPER CARE WHEN HANDLING ZOANTHIDS AND PALYTHOA SPECIES

Zoanthids and Palythoa polyps are some of the most striking additions to the reef aquarium. They are easily "fragged" on to other rocks using reef-safe glues but be aware of the dangers when handling these animals. Both have toxins (Palytoxin) that can cause humans great harm!

You should have proper eye-ware (guard your eyes against fluids expelled from these animals) and gloves to protect your hands in the event of a cut or open sore. These animals are TOXIC!! Protect yourself when handling, cutting, acclimating and gluing these animals. Some of the toxins these creatures contain can cause blindness if allowed to reach your eyes!! So enjoy the beauty but respect the danger.... Use proper care when handling these and other aquarium creatures.

BE A RESPONSIBLE FISH KEEPER. . .

With all the news of the lionfish invasion across the Caribbean we just wanted to tell you how you can do your part to prevent the addition of non-native species to our local freshwater and saltwater environments. NEVER EVER EVER EVER release ANY tropical freshwater fish, saltwaterfish, aquatic plants OR invertebrates into our local waters. You may think you are doing the right thing by releasing a fish that is sick, a fish that's grown too large or a plant that

YOU THINK would be beautiful in your local pond or lake but you could be causing a disaster! Non-native species can affect an entire ecosystem. Lionfish are now consuming small fish and invertebrates all over the Caribbean with nothing to stop them. The ramifications of this invasion are just starting to show up and the long-term damage is looking quite serious. Giant pacu found in waters from SC to Florida, acclimated Snakeheads eating all the fish in a pond, aquarium snails munching away at native plants in Georgia, non-native shrimp being caught in Beaufort....and the list goes on and on. If you have a creature, plant or invertebrate you no longer desire to own please bring it to us. We may not be able to issue you credit but we will accept it. This protects the environment and our aquarium hobby! Be responsible – NEVER release anything into our local waters!!!
